

Ideas for Utilizing Patrollers During Virtual Learning

1. Compose thank you notes for school staff regarding their hard work during COVID-19
2. Create a video to model proper behavior during virtual learning (ex. How to act with respect to teacher and classmates)
3. Host a virtual safety story time for younger grade levels. Examples of children's books with safety messaging:
 - a. How Do Dinosaurs Stay Safe by Jane Yolen and Mark Teague
 - b. Let's Go For a Drive by Mo Willems
 - c. Franklin's Bicycle Helmet by Eva Moore
4. Create short pre-recorded videos on safety topics (Ex. Why social distancing is important, school safety rules, proper hand washing technique, etc.)
 - a. Always ensure Patrollers educate not enforce while on duty
5. Create video building tours for new students to be familiar with their surroundings when they return to school (Ex. Kindergarteners, new families)
6. Implement virtual friendly Patrol posts
 - a. Communications Post: Patrollers work directly with the media team to deliver safety messaging during the AM or PM announcements or through school communication such as newsletters, weekly emails, etc.
7. Continue to meet monthly for Patrol meetings with a virtual platform
8. Create safety resources for the student body (Ex. coloring or activity pages)
9. Create videos or written materials for parents (Ex. Distracted driving, car seats, seatbelts)
10. Create videos or written materials for students (Ex. Being a safe passenger, buckling up, playing safely at home)
11. Lead a virtual safety poster contest and choose a winner for each grade level. Winning posters may be printed and displayed when school reopens or may be sent out with a monthly newsletter.
12. Go digital with the Patroller application. (Many schools have found Google Docs useful)
13. Utilize Patrollers as peer tutors
